

Review of Directly Provided Learning Disability Services

Anna Saunders

Director of Commissioning

Looking at Learning Disability Services the Council runs

What's the ask?

To look at LD services to:

- See how the current services might be made better and improve the offer to people who use services
- How do they make a difference and contribute to the money the Council has - helping people to be more independent, provide better value accommodation for people who can't manage on their own.
- Can we make things more connected - at the moment they are all managed differently and may not work together very well
- Have we got the right people in the right places
- Look at Homeshare and what it might offer us
- Involve people with a learning disability, carers and staff
- Make some recommendations
